An Apendix, or later part of this Almanack, for the year of our Lord, 1655.

V herein are contained very many profitable instructions, and necessary Rules, of singular use, and benefit of the Practiser, no instructions for the speedy planting of an Orchard, of all sorts of Fruit-trees. Now Taxed, as of interest as it is in the Hundred of Wretling by the Hundred the Fayres in England and Wales, High wayes from Colone to Colone, with their severall distances, with many other things of good consequence, written by Fr. Pigot, Philomath.

This yeare 1655, there will happen foure Eclipses of the greater Lightes, two of the Sun, and two of the Moon, whereof the first of the Sun will only appeare in our Horizon the 27 of January, about two of the clock in the afternoon; which being so small, as but one digit, bearing little light or bairdity, I spare to speak further of it.

Note that 3 Barley comes let end to end, make an inch, 12 inches a foot, 3 foot a yard, 4 yd yards and a halfe a perch, 4 perches in length, and 4 in breadth an Acre, 4 in breadth and 10 in length a Wood or a quarter of an Acre, so that an Acre hath 43560 square foot, 4840 square yards, and 160 square perches.

I wrote so largely of the Feast of Easter last yeare, and therefore but thus now; That Easter day will be upon the Wary day 9 times within 466 yeares to come (if God permit) so was it 87 yeares past, and not so againe till fifty seven yeares to come, neither can it so be unlesse the Dominicall Letter be G, and the Prime 5, 13, or 18; and when the Dominicall Letter is C, and the Prime 8, it will be highest, viz. Apr. 25 & lowest when the Dom. is D, viz. Mar. 22.

To

A Prognostication.

A very profitable Invention, for the speedy planting of an Orchard of Fruit-Trees.

ABout the end (or rather the middle) of June, the sap being thin in the boughes, or tops of the Trees let some one of discretion goe up into the boughes of the Tree intended, and with a keen knife cut the barks of some smooth bough so chosen round about the same, quite through the same barks to the very bare wood. In two places (toward the butt of the bough) a full hand breadth the one from the other, and take off that barks clearely from the said bough and cast it away, and wipe the sap cleane off that bared place; Then take some of the stiffest clay you can have, and wrap it round round about the said bared place (that it may stop the sap when it descendeth) bind on this clay with sallow strings, as the like very hard, let this clay be two inches thicke at least.
Then prepare a certain quantity of good ranke mould, temper ed with short muck and mitchen water, and make more thereof, and wrap a good quantity of it as big as a foote-ball upon the same barks remaining close above the said clay, that it may touch the same; put mosse upon it, and as before bind it well, and so let it continue growing upon the same tree till February. Then with a fine saw carefully take off the said bough, close below the clay not perishing the upper moister, and set that bough, with the clay and moister on it, in some good ground, and there let it remaine to grow; for the sap cannot passe down ward for the clay, but stayeth in the upper moister, and breedeth roots and possibly (God willing) may beare fruit the next summer following. Thus you may order many such boughs, as aforesaid, and quickly plant an Or chard of bearing Trees. If the bough be as big as the small or ones leg, it is so much the better. ————— probatum est.---

To those that are benevolent and well disposed S.P.D.
 If any expect that I should herein deliver Astrological predictions (I must reply) that I need not, unless I should, actum agere, seeing they swarme like Bees in almost every mans Booke, although with much incongruity, and differing manner, yet I deny not the influence, power and operation of the celestial bodies in themselves as it is ordained and assigned unto them of God; but I would not have such power and preheminance as (Dom-nus fac totum) which is attributed to God the Creator, to be given to the creature; nor ought detracted from the great F. b. yah that only belongeth unto him; Most true is, as the steeled Poet truly saith, Stellis & herbis vis est, &c. For the Celestiall bodies as Sun, Moone and Stars were not made to be gazed upon onely, but were (as the Servant of God Moses saith) created in signa, & tempora, & in dies, & annos; to be for signes and for seasons, and for dayes, and for yeares, Gen. 1. 14. and have singular influence, over all animal, vegetable, and mine-rall Creatures, as learned Melancthon will testifie; and againe the Sun, Moon and Stars, are called the Host of Heaven, Deut. 4. 19. But yet I would know what mortal can truly tell whether and when it shall or will please God to assist or resist them in their purpose or inclinations, quia est Deus omnipotens, qui regit omnia natu, seeing God ruleth all, governeth all, and directeth; and therefore to him alone be glory, thanks, and praise above all, Amen.

Also some perhaps may demand why I omit to prog-nosticate future Events, my answer is directly as is next before expressed; for I doe ingenuously confesse that these noble Arts and sciences are grounded upon sound grounds and reasons (but as I said before) whether it will please the Lord to hinder or further the successe, who knoweth but he himselfe alone? My wayes are not your wayes, saith the Lord: so may it likewise be said, man may purpose, but God will dispose. If yee walk in my Sta- tutes; &c. then will I give you raine in due season, saith the Lord, Levit. 26. 3, 4. here you may see it is God, that giveth the former and the latter rain, and not man; yet I deny not, but God may (if he please) bring about his own purpose, by the influence of the celestiall bodies.

PIGOT, 1655.

But concerning the mutation of the Weather, a word or two concerning those that take upon them to be Weather-wise (noli altum sapere) may be a wholesome Caveat. For perhaps there cometh an unexpected winde, peeping out of some strange corner of the Earth, and no man knoweth from whence it cometh, nor whither it goeth, and dispelleth that spungy Nubes that should have stood for the Prognosticators fame and credit, and carrieth it into a far remote Climate; and so he is deceived and deluded, and after reputed a Mind-ax (though never good Smith in his life) and his predictions turne to contradictions: so concluding this point with Caro, not Cataline, Mitto arcana Deo, &c.

Finally, if any expect that I should note & expresse certaine fortunate dayes in every Month, which of the old Prognosticators were held ominous or fatall, let them know that I never intended such a thing, because it is a superstitious and heathenish conceit to attribute the good or bad successe of our actions and interprises to the unconstant will and pleasure of fickle fortune, not depending upon Gods providence only: the publishing of such bookes hath caused some weake Christians not to undertake their honest and lawfull businesse without the advice of such an Almanack, but we must know that God made every day good of the first, and said, Ecce erat valde bonum, Gen. 1. 31. and if it be not so still, our sins only have caused the contrary to us: For to the godly all things are good, and to the wicked all things are evil.

A Topographicall description of the commodious County of Salop, the Shire wherein I was borne, and doe now live.

Salopia quasi Salutiscopis, the very name thereof intimating matting the salubrity of the soyle, and comodiousnesse of the Countrey, the situation thereof not very much distant from the middle of our Common-weale of England, but indeed Warwickshire is far nearer. This Countrey by the old Saxons was written, and called Scirpſcure, which we now call Shro. ſhire, is bordered on the East, with Staffordshire on the West, with Denbighſhire and Montgomeryſhires on the South, with Radnor, Hereford and Worceſterſhires and the Countrey Palatine of Cheſter on the North. There are Montes, Pontes, Fontes, Eccleſie, Feminae, Lana; yea Wood, Wool, Coal, Iron, Stone, Meades deckt with flowers, Chriſtall ſtreames, Rivers broad, faire Halls and Towers.

Loe Salop thy Creator gives thee blessings ſtore.

Serve him in ſ. are and give him thanks therefore.

It's divided into ſixteen hundreds, and Liberties, ſubdivided into 170. pariſhes watered with eighteen larger Rivers, beſides many other ſmaller ſtreames; ſomewhat near the middle of this Countrey is placed our Shire Town called Shrewſbury, beautifull as a pretious Jew ſet in a ring of pure Gold ſituate upon a moſt pleaſant Hill, having a moſt whoſome Aire, and pleaſant proſpect welmoſt environed, or as it were peninſulized with that ancient and comodious River, vulgarly called Severne, but more properly Sabrina, as taking her name from Sabrina daughter to King Loecrine the eldeſt ſon of Brute. Thus Loecrine having married Guendolin daughter to Cornwall, Duke of Cornwall, by whom he had a Son named Madoc. He alſo kept as his Paramour the beautifull Lady Eſtild by whom he had a daughter called Sabrina, but after the death of the ſaid Cornwall, he put from him the ſaid Guendo in his wife, and married the ſaid Eſtild his Paramour. But Guendolin repairing to Cornwall, and there ſhe raſed a great power, and fought with King Loecrine her husband, and ſlew him; he was buried at Troynovant, and ſhe drowned Lady Eſtild with her daughter Sabrina in that River, we now call Severn but rather Sabrina according to the Maidens name therein drowned.

Hereafter followeth an excellent ready Table for such as

The excellent use of this precedent Table followeth.

Observe that there be three larger Columns in this Table distinguished into five other lesser Columns; the Column under pound doth manifest the price of the pound weight according to the rate of the hundred.

As for example, If I pay 2l. 4s. 4d. for the hundred of Hops, Chees or any other commodity, the pound weight thereof commeth to 4d. $\frac{1}{2}$ (which is foure pence three farthings the pound) and so the rest in like manner.

Suns entrie into the four quarters of the year described.

Spring beginneth when the Sun entreth Aries the 10. of March about one in the afternoon.

Summer beginneth at the Suns ingresse into Cancer, the 11. of June about four in the morning.

Autumne beginneth at the entrance of the Sunne into Libra, the 13. of September about eight in the morning.

Winter beginneth at the entrance of the Sun into Capricorn, the 11. of December about six at night.

Instructions for the using of these Tables of interest.

In the Column of the left hand, you have the severall sums of money from 100l. to one pound inclusively; the twelve months at the head; L. standing for pounds, D. for pence. S. for shillings, &c.

As for Example; I would know the interest of 900l. for six Months, I find 900l. in the first Row leftward, and the six Months at the head, and with the meeting of the Row with the time of six Months; and under the same you have 27l. your debt and so for the rest.

The ancient Town of Ludlow briefly described.

This Towne hath heretofore been marvelously grased and benefited by the Castle standing at the head thereof during the time of the Councils continuance there, insomuch that it was growne very wealthy. There was the Law spiritual and temporall, practised for the punishing of offenders Gods word truly and frequently preached to rebuke sinners, praying much used, for the comfort of the godly: it hath yet remaining a fair Temple built in a Collegiat forme, having a large and lofty Tower, wherein are most melodious and tunable Bells; it hath also a good Free-schoole, having thereunto belonging, sufficient Meanes to maintaine a High Schoolmaster, and an Usher. This Town is well governed by two Bayliffs, two Justices, twelve Aldermen, and twenty five Common counsellors, the high Bayliffe is chosen out of the twelve Aldermen, and the low Bailiffe is one of the twenty five aforesaid, the Recorder for the Towne is yearly elected as the Bailiffs are: they haue lawfull Liberty and freedome to execute and put to death such offenders that doe deserve the same. This ancient Towne is d.vided into four Wards, viz. Castlestreet-ward, Broadstreet-ward, Corvestreet-ward, Oldstreet and Galvord-ward encompassed on the South-side with a fair stream called Temd, and on the North side watered with a smaller Prook called Corve, of the Latine word Curvus, crooked; because it passeth with so crooked course, and falleth into the said Temd, close under the said Castle-wall. This Town standeth neat and cleanly upon high grounds, so that of necessity, you must ascend in going up to the Center; yet having a farre higher Hill, called Whitcliffe on the West side. The streets are large and spacious (till of late) very many buildings fair and procerous, and were fit for the entertaining of lo great a concourse of people, as did thither resort, when the said Councell was there abiding.

But sithenec being under the Tyranicall government of cruel Colonell Woodhouse; it was most lamentably ruined and defaced to the great hearts-griefe, and contri-5 station of all good people: He caused Corvestreet, being in length almost a quarter of a mile, to be burned and demolished (except some few houses) together with the greater part of many other streets, wherein were very many fair buildings burnt, never like to be reduced into 10 facta quo prius; the value of which losses is conjectured by persons of sound judgement and discretion, to be more then fifty hundred thousand pound.

Furthermore you may take notice, that there is a very necessary instrument for leading, or conveyance of water, invented by Thomas Palmer Gunsmith of this Towne, which for perfection and facility of work excelleth far all those former used with Water or Plummer, &c.

The Fairs in England and Wales, expressed according to the order of the Letters, for the speedy finding of each Fair; carefully collected by F. P.

Profitable Directions.

Generally Plant and Graffe, in the beginning of the Spring the Moone increasing, and in Taurus, Virgo, Capricorn or Pisces, the Wind not being in the North or East; because those win tes are nipping and fretting.

Remove Trees in September, October or November the Moone in Aries, Libra, Scorpio, and be be sure to set that side of the Tree to the South againe, that was at or toward the the South before, sow seeds of round Roots, as Onions, Turnips, Pompions, and the like, three or four dayes before the Full. Geld Cattell, the Moon in Aries, Sagittarius or Capricorn after the Full. Shear Sheep, cut hair, and sow all manner of seeds, and grain the Moon increasing.

Dung Land to destroy weeds in the last quarter, gather the flowers and seeds you intend to keep all the yeare, at the Full, and the like for Herbes, dry them first in the shadow, then in the Sun.

Gather fruits in a dry afternoon, put every sort of your fruit by it selfe: let them be gathered in the last quarter of the Moon: put not the brused nor the fallings among the rest.

Fall Timber to build from Midsummer till Twelſe-tide, the Moon decreasing.

If any Heroick Spirit or generous Gentlemen be desirous to beautifie his understanding, with the laudable ornaments of Mathematicall knowledge, he may be instructed (if he please) by this Author, who is well experienced in these practices following.

Imprimis, the making of fixed Dyals, both in Mettall and durable Couloours in divers formes.

Item. The making and use of all sorts of portable and instrumentall Dyals, viz. Quadrants, Quadrar, Ring dyals, Cylinder dyals, and also the making and use of that Baculum horacium, or Staffe dyall devised some years past, by this Author; of excellent use.

Item, The use of Globes, Sphears in plano: The Mathematicall Jewell, Mr. Gunter's Sector, &c. and many other such Mathematicall Instruments, Geometry, and land measuring, with the plane Table, Theodelite, Circumferetor, Mr. Hoptons Gedeotieall Staffe, &c.

The use of Sines, Tangents, and Secants, and the Art of Dialing thereby performed with great certainty, and facility. Arithmetick with its parts, which is the ground of all Sciences. Non nobis nati sumus.
